

FEARFUL PLUNGE OF A BABY BOY.

Little Joseph Tuterman Fell Five Stories and Was Picked Up Unhurt.

Where Baby Fell and Landed.

"Not a bone broken," said Ambrose Surgeon Williams, of the Presbyterian Hospital, handing three-year-old Joseph Tuterman back to his anxious mother.

Joseph had just fallen from a fifth-story window to the sidewalk. In some wonderful way he had come through the experience without a scratch.

The Tuterman family live on the fifth floor, front, of a tenement at 1083 First avenue. The father is not steadily employed, but he went out to work at 5 o'clock this morning. That roused the

FRANK CROKER'S $4,500 DOG STOLEN.

Frank Croker and the missing dog.

Spring, where the Croker family are wont to spend the summer, and had reached Utica when suddenly, the $4,500 beauty was missing. That was this morning, and immediately the wires were made hot with inquiry and the police all over the country asked to keep a sharp lookout for the animal.

That he was stolen is certain, for even a dog of his strength could not have broken the chain of steel which bound him to the baggage car.

There is little doubt that young Mr. Croker will recover the dog, for he is familiar to every fancier in the land, and it would be next to impossible to dispose of him. More likely he is being held for ransom.

FACTS ABOUT FLOUR.

Made White by Leaving Out the Part Which Helps Digest.

Modern methods of milling separate the parts of the wheat berry that contain the diastatic element, and furnish only the white flour made up almost entirely of starch.

One of the principal elements needed to digest this starch has been left out in the process, and therefore the person who eats much white bread is almost sure to have intestinal troubles, for the starch does not digest properly and must, of necessity, decay, and cause all sorts of trouble.

Grape-Nuts food, on the contrary, is made up of the entire wheat and barley, and the processes of digestion as shown in the human body are copied as exactly as possible, in a mechanical way, by the use of moisture, time and warmth. No chemicals or other ingredients are used, but the simple methods scientifically arranged.

In this way the starch of the grain is transformed into grape sugar, and the Grape-Nuts food, which appears in a granular form, shows on the outside of the little granules glittering specks of this grape sugar, which is made up of the entire wheat and barley, but is a result of the change of the starch into grape sugar, which works out to the surface, very much as the sap of the hickory or maple tree will frequently show in the shape of white sugar, on the sawed-off ends of logs.

A handful of Grape-Nuts held to the light will show the little glittering particles of grape sugar. It is naturally and scientifically predigested, therefore the food agrees with the weakest sort of a stomach. It must not be used in large quantities at one meal, or it is concentrated, and over-feeding of even the choicest food is not advisable.

Being perfectly cooked at the factory, the food can be served instantly, either dry or wet, cold or hot. Who wanted hot, not water, milk or cream can be poured over it. There is a definite, distinct and undeniable gain in nervous energy and vitality when Grape-Nuts food is used.

MOVING DAY FOR POLICE.

Brooklyn Force Leaves the Municipal Building and Reinstalls Headquarters on Smith Street.

This was moving day for the Brooklyn police. Early this morning the force left the Municipal Building, where it has been for a generation, and established headquarters at 10 Smith street.

The old location was in City Hall square, in the center of the business district and accessible by all street cars. The new location is on a side street in a building formerly occupied by the Brooklyn Telephone Company.

It had been vacant for many months. Leading politicians of Kings County are officers of the telephone company, and the force rent the city will pay will increase their profits.

The telephone bureau, the department controlled by the press and the public, has been placed on the top floor of the building, which is without an elevator.

STRUCK HER WITH A LAMP

Negro Set Woman Afire and Defied the Police.

Frances Francis, of 133 West Thirty-second street, is at Bellevue Hospital dying from the burns she received when George Talbert, a negro, broke a lamp over her head.

At 4 o'clock this morning they met in the house and after a quarrel the woman slapped Talbert in the face. He said nothing and picked up a small hand lamp started for his bedroom. She slapped him again whereupon, it is said, he snatched her. She then sprang at him like a tiger, when he swung the lamp, bringing it down squarely on her head.

Her clothing took fire at once, and as she ran screaming through the apartments she set fire to beds, curtains and carpet. When the fire was finally smothered the woman had been badly burned about the face, arms and neck. Talbert escaped and the police went to look for him. It was impossible for the police to get any information from the residents of the block. The reserves were then called out, about fifty policemen surrounding the block between Ninth and Seventh avenues.

Four policemen then went through the block. They found Talbert hiding on the roof of No. 140. He had a revolver and threatened to shoot, but when confronted with four revolvers he returned gave up.

The woman was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said her death is a question of a few days.

This morning the falling child wrecked the awning, but luckily he fell in a lot and was not injured by the framework. As the awning gave way he slid with it down to the street.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

STRUCK HER WITH A LAMP

Negro Set Woman Afire and Defied the Police.

Frances Francis, of 133 West Thirty-second street, is at Bellevue Hospital dying from the burns she received when George Talbert, a negro, broke a lamp over her head.

At 4 o'clock this morning they met in the house and after a quarrel the woman slapped Talbert in the face. He said nothing and picked up a small hand lamp started for his bedroom. She slapped him again whereupon, it is said, he snatched her. She then sprang at him like a tiger, when he swung the lamp, bringing it down squarely on her head.

Her clothing took fire at once, and as she ran screaming through the apartments she set fire to beds, curtains and carpet. When the fire was finally smothered the woman had been badly burned about the face, arms and neck. Talbert escaped and the police went to look for him. It was impossible for the police to get any information from the residents of the block. The reserves were then called out, about fifty policemen surrounding the block between Ninth and Seventh avenues.

Four policemen then went through the block. They found Talbert hiding on the roof of No. 140. He had a revolver and threatened to shoot, but when confronted with four revolvers he returned gave up.

The woman was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said her death is a question of a few days.

This morning the falling child wrecked the awning, but luckily he fell in a lot and was not injured by the framework. As the awning gave way he slid with it down to the street.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

STRUCK HER WITH A LAMP

Negro Set Woman Afire and Defied the Police.

Frances Francis, of 133 West Thirty-second street, is at Bellevue Hospital dying from the burns she received when George Talbert, a negro, broke a lamp over her head.

At 4 o'clock this morning they met in the house and after a quarrel the woman slapped Talbert in the face. He said nothing and picked up a small hand lamp started for his bedroom. She slapped him again whereupon, it is said, he snatched her. She then sprang at him like a tiger, when he swung the lamp, bringing it down squarely on her head.

Her clothing took fire at once, and as she ran screaming through the apartments she set fire to beds, curtains and carpet. When the fire was finally smothered the woman had been badly burned about the face, arms and neck. Talbert escaped and the police went to look for him. It was impossible for the police to get any information from the residents of the block. The reserves were then called out, about fifty policemen surrounding the block between Ninth and Seventh avenues.

Four policemen then went through the block. They found Talbert hiding on the roof of No. 140. He had a revolver and threatened to shoot, but when confronted with four revolvers he returned gave up.

The woman was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said her death is a question of a few days.

This morning the falling child wrecked the awning, but luckily he fell in a lot and was not injured by the framework. As the awning gave way he slid with it down to the street.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

STRUCK HER WITH A LAMP

Negro Set Woman Afire and Defied the Police.

Frances Francis, of 133 West Thirty-second street, is at Bellevue Hospital dying from the burns she received when George Talbert, a negro, broke a lamp over her head.

At 4 o'clock this morning they met in the house and after a quarrel the woman slapped Talbert in the face. He said nothing and picked up a small hand lamp started for his bedroom. She slapped him again whereupon, it is said, he snatched her. She then sprang at him like a tiger, when he swung the lamp, bringing it down squarely on her head.

Her clothing took fire at once, and as she ran screaming through the apartments she set fire to beds, curtains and carpet. When the fire was finally smothered the woman had been badly burned about the face, arms and neck. Talbert escaped and the police went to look for him. It was impossible for the police to get any information from the residents of the block. The reserves were then called out, about fifty policemen surrounding the block between Ninth and Seventh avenues.

Four policemen then went through the block. They found Talbert hiding on the roof of No. 140. He had a revolver and threatened to shoot, but when confronted with four revolvers he returned gave up.

The woman was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said her death is a question of a few days.

This morning the falling child wrecked the awning, but luckily he fell in a lot and was not injured by the framework. As the awning gave way he slid with it down to the street.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

The mother ran shrieking down the five flights of stairs, crying the tenants as she went. The boy had rolled into the gutter and lay there pulsed with fright. His mother thought he was internally injured.

The ambulance surgeon said the lad hadn't sustained so much as a scratch in bumping against the fire-escape rail.

entire family, and Joseph and his little sister were at play a 5:30 o'clock. The lad opened the front shutters and climbed out on the fire-escape. He dropped through the opening, fell one flight and then bounded against the railing of the escape on the fourth night.

This awning him clear of the building and he went hurtling down for two flights more, until he landed in the swing of Achille Bros' butcher shop on the ground floor.

STRUCK HER WITH A LAMP

Negro Set Woman Afire and Defied the Police.

Frances Francis, of 133 West Thirty-second street, is at Bellevue Hospital dying from the burns she received when George Talbert, a negro, broke a lamp over her head.

At 4 o'clock this morning they met in the house and after a quarrel the woman slapped Talbert in the face. He said nothing and picked up a small hand lamp started for his bedroom. She slapped him again whereupon, it is said, he snatched her. She then sprang at him like a tiger, when he swung the lamp, bringing it down squarely on her head.

Her clothing took fire at once, and as she ran screaming through the apartments she set fire to beds, curtains and carpet. When the fire was finally smothered the woman had been badly burned about the face, arms and neck. Talbert escaped and the police went to look for him. It was impossible for the police to get any information from the residents of the block. The reserves were then called out, about fifty policemen surrounding the block between